Flood Control Work May Start Here Shortly, Council Told; Aid Given China Relief Fund

Council Stands Firm on Ash By-law; Lycka Case Gives Trouble; Andresak Girl to be Sent to Provincial Home.

Regular meeting of the council was held in the council chamber on Monday evening. Present, Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Abousafy, Dutil, Ford, Jenkins and Ramsay.

Henry Claes was present to ask for a ruling on his case regarding taxes. He had been in the army for over eight months before receiving his honorable discharge. Last month he had received his tax notice and he wanted to know if he was not exempt from taxation this year. Town solicitor Bannan had advised that Mr. Claes write to the Department of Municipal Affairs regarding the matter and this will be done.

Four West Coleman residents were present to appeal against the town ruling that they must pay ash collection fees. Their claim was that they reside in the area which suffered the most flood damage two years ago. They had decided to raise their yards, first by taking soil off the surface till they reached the sand and then filling up the yard with ashes. When the correct level had been reached they would spread the soil back on the surface. They asked why pay for ash removal when they had no ashes to remove. After their departure council gave consideration to the matter and it was decided to stand firm with their ash removal by-law. It was claimed that in addition to ashes there are tin cans, spoiled food, etc. to be moved at regular intervals and that these people would have to pay the 35c monthly fee for removal of garbage.

The Tony Lycka case is again giving trouble. Lycka now denies having agreed to pay $25 per month to clean off his indebtedness to the town. A portion of his wages was held back recently and he now threatens to quit working. Council will maintain their pressure to get back all the money they possibly can.

A letter from the Dept. of Public Works was received stating that District Engineer Bradley had been authorized to interview the town council, McGillivray Creek Coal and Coke Co. and The Canadian Pacific Railway with a view of securing complete agreement on having flood control work done. When arrangements are completed the work will commence as soon as possible.

A report was received from the Child Welfare Dept. regarding the Andresak girls. It advised that they be placed in the Lacombe Home at Midnapore. Recently the elder girl was placed in a farm home at Barons and reports that she likes new surroundings. Council decided to send the younger girl, age 12, to the Home and ask the Child Welfare officials to visit Barons and give council a report on how the elder girl is progressing. Town solicitor Bannan will be asked to submit a full statement on the Andresak house and furniture. This week Councillor Ramsay, Constable Antle and Solicitor Bannan will visit the Andresak home and take inventory of its contents.

One of the two elderly ladies recommended for the Old Age pension has received her first cheque. The second lady was refused when it became known by the provincial authorities that she had a few dollars laid aside.

Sam Sorroff, West Coleman resident, once again appealed to council for compensation as the result of ground sinkage under his property, which he claims, is caused by former underground workings of the International mine. Some years ago this area was inspected by former Mayor J. S. D'Appolonia, a number of his councillors and engineers and officials of International Co. A letter will be sent Mr. D'Appolonia asking that he give his findings at that time to the present council for consideration.

As a result of a little long-range planning on behalf of the council an architect's drawing of proposed improvements to the town hall was submitted. The drawing will be filed for future consideration.

As the result of a story regarding radio interference appearing in The Journal the council had a little discussion regarding improving radio reception. Since none of the councillors are electricians or radio technicians they were at a loss as to what should be done. However they would give consideration to any suggestions put to them by competent parties.

Two winters ago there occurred a fire to one of the houses overlooking Blairmore Road. The fire brigade was called out and aided in quelling the fire. A few householders in the immediate vicinity, whose homes were also in danger of being destroyed, were assessed $10 each. All have paid but J. Trots who still owes $5. Council will again request him to pay the outstanding amount.

Some weeks ago a stop sign was allegedly damaged by a truck owned by Mike Andreschuk. Council will endeavor to secure cost of repairs from him.

A letter was received from Mrs. Deputak, relief recipient, stating that her $10 relief was insufficient and asking for more. Council was informed she gets the $10 monthly relief grant, is awarded $5 monthly for scrubbing the council floors, is given free light, rent and coal, and is allowed several items of clothing. In addition it was stated she gets the odd dollar for work elsewhere. Council felt that they were being very fair with her and that they could not see their way clear to increase what they were already allotting her.

A letter was received from the Calgary headquarters of the China War Relief Fund asking for the council's co-operation in starting a campaign locally. A $10 donation was authorized and the local Chinese citizens will be asked to start a campaign in Coleman. In addition council will approach the mine managements for permission to canvass at the pit-heads of both mines. Should the Chinese decline to organize a campaign the Lions club will be asked to step in and take over.

It was agreed that the council will attend in a body at the official opening of the new Salvation Army hall on Friday, Sept. 10.

A notice of motion was given that changes to the Business Tax By-law will be brought in at the next regular meeting.

The latest report on the drinking water, is that while it is still contaminated it is not quite as bad as it was a month or two ago. The last report was received Aug. 5.

COURAGE OF WAAF BALLOON OPERATORS AT A LONDON BALLOON SITE

During the Luftwaffe raid on London on January 17-18, 1943, two British Women's Auxiliary Air Force Balloon Operators carried on with their job, bringing their balloon to required height in spite of the fact that two large explosive bombs fell practically together. One bomb fell about 25 yards and the other 20 yards to the right and left of the winch respectively. The two WAAF Balloon Operators are 18 and 22 years old, ACW Peggy Muncey Beeson (left) and Corporal May Dyson (right).

Bellevue Show Main Attraction On Labor Day

Over 1,000 Entries Have Been Received; Exhibits From All Towns; Sports Will be Held at 10 a.m.; Bicycle Race 12.30 Noon

Bellevue and District Horticultural show will be the main attraction in the Pass on Labor Day and large crowds from all Pass towns are expected to throng into the Bellevue arena where the exhibits will be on display.

The program will start at 10 a.m. Monday, when sports under the sponsorship of the Bellevue Athletic Association will be run off. There will be a full line of children's events with good prizes. The major sports attraction will be the bicycle race, open to all comers, starting at main street, Blairmore, and finishing at Bellevue.

The grand exhibition will start at 1 p.m. and continue till 7 p.m. There will be flowers, vegetables, handicraft, school art and domestic science. Trophies and other prizes will be awarded winners. Entries have been received from all Pass towns, which will add to the interest of the exhibition.

An afternoon feature will be an exhibition of work for war relief purposes, made by Red Cross and Red Shield societies.

At 7 p.m. large and small parcels of prize-winning flowers and vegetables will be auctioned in the arena.

A whist-bridge and dance will be sponsored by the Bellevue Rebekahs in the evening to conclude what should be a very successful day.

A cordial invitation to all Pass citizens to attend the big show is extended by President Wm. Kerr, under whose guidance the show continues each year to grow and improve.

Local Men Secured Mining Papers

Two Coleman men, Wm. Fraser Jr. and John Kubin, were successful in securing their second-class mining papers in recent examinations. It is understood that a Blairmore man and a Hillcrest man also were successful in obtaining their second-class papers.

Third-class papers were secured by Benny Fontana, Pete Topak and John Kinnear Jr.

Welfare Fund Would Appreciate Increased Support

Starting to Dip Into Reserve Fund Due to so Many Boys Now Overseas

The Overseas Welfare Fund has reached the point where it finds that within the next few weeks it will be necessary to dip into its reserve fund to continue to send cigarettes to the local men overseas.

There are 88 men overseas with additional local men arriving monthly. Collections each month average $100. At the present time it costs $97.50 per month to send the cigarettes. The arrival of three more men at $1 per month for cigarettes will see the Reserve Fund coming into use.

It is quite possible that before the war is finished several hundred local men will be overseas. That is the reason the Fund committee is so anxious not to touch the reserve fund and keep this money so that when most of the boys are overseas the money will be available to keep on sending the cigarettes to them for as long as possible.

The situation can be summed up as follows: The longer the reserve fund remains untouched the longer the boys overseas will receive their cigarette parcels regardless of their number.

If the monthly collections could be boosted to $125 or more it would take care of current expenses and help build up a healthy surplus to take care of future shipments. Those who are not contributing are asked to donate a dime or twenty-five cents to the Fund soldier each pay Saturday.

Since the theft at the Legion Club two weeks ago it appears that some citizens are under the belief that some of the Overseas Welfare Money was stolen. This is not true. The Legion is connected with the Fund only so far that it is they who choose the committee to supervise the Fund. All money received by it is carefully checked and deposited in the bank.

3,068 RATION BOOKS DISTRIBUTED LOCALLY

Three thousand and sixty-eight ration books were distributed locally at Antrobus' office last week. This is 233 less than was distributed in February of this year. Many citizens are still away on vacation and would secure their books at other points, thereby reducing the number issued from the local office.

I can't put into words how much your cigs are appreciated by the boys but you can be sure you are doing something really wonderful. Going to Yorkshire on leave (I hope).—Bill Nimcan.

First Aid, Taught Locally, Saved A Life

V. Collagrosso, Former Student Uses First Aid Training to Save a Drowning Victim at Vancouver

Coleman's St. John Ambulance Association officers are quite elated over the fact of V. Collagrosso in using his First Aid training to save a father's life at Vancouver on July 1.

Mr. Collagrosso had been a student at the local First Aid classes for a number of years and had become an ardent supporter of the local association.

Last year he moved with his family to Vancouver where he gained employment. On July 1, according to a story given to The Journal by one of the local First Aid officers, Mr. Collagrosso was frequenting Second Beach in Stanley Park when a father got into difficulties and was dragged ashore unconscious. A lady at once tried artificial respiration but without meeting with much success. Mr. Collagrosso asked to help, stating that he had First Aid training and might be of some assistance.

After several minutes of effort he succeeded in having the patient rid himself of much water by way of the mouth. Carefully applying artificial respiration and watching his patient's condition he finally managed to bring him completely around after half an hour's strenuous work.

The local officers congratulate Mr. Collagrosso on his fine achievement and point out to others how advantageous it is to have First Aid training so that one may use it should it be needed by one's fellowmen.

Town Now Free of Any Expense; Work on Flood Control Expected to Start in Near Future

The council, after more than a year an half of conferences, progress, set-backs, correspondence, etc., in endeavoring to have flood control work started in West Coleman, had their efforts climaxed on Tuesday morning when the following letter was received from the Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of Public Works:—

Edmonton, Alberta, Aug. 28, 1943.

Dear Sir:— I have your letter of the 21st instant concerning the culvert under the McGillivray Creek Coal Company's tracks.

I have authorized the Department to accept the responsibility for one half of the cost of this culvert which will relieve the Town of Coleman of any responsibility in the matter.

Yours truly,
W. A. Fallow
Minister.

Superintendent S. R. Lamb, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been interested in flood control work here since the spring flood of last year. In Feb. 9, 1943, he wrote the following letter to Mayor Antrobus listing the approximate cost of flood control work here. In his letter he cautioned that the figures listed would vary due to changing costs of labor and changing prices of material.

S. R. Lamb's letter:—
Lethbridge, Alberta, 9th February, 1943.

F. Antrobus, Esq., Mayor, COLEMAN, Alta.

Dear Sir:

Further to our recent conversation in connection with the Tempest scheme for the control of the water at West Coleman, the following is an estimate of the cost of the different sections of this scheme:

Culvert under C.P.R. tracks $2,500.00
Culvert under Coal Company's tracks $4,000.00
The water way through the old channel and the Coal Company's and C.P.R. culverts $1,800.00
Control dam to regulate flow down the channel on the north side of the track $ 800.00
At the council meeting last Monday evening the council received word from Dept. of Public Works that their District Engineer Bradley was at present interviewing the McGillivray Co., C.P.R. and Town council with a view to completing arrangements preparatory to starting flood control work.

NOBLE McDONALD DIES AT VANCOUVER

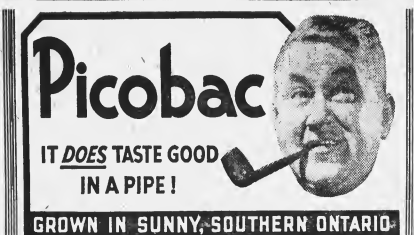

Mr. Noble McDonald, for many years superintendent at West Canadian Collieries, Bellevue, died at Vancouver on Wednesday, according to information received by his Pass friends. It is only about two months ago the late Mr. McDonald and his family left the Pass to take up residence at the coast.

He was a brother of the late Hector McDonald, former McGillivray Creek superintendent.

The United Nations

THE PHRASE "THE UNITED NATIONS" is now a commonplace one, yet perhaps few who use it realize its full significance. Less than two years ago it had its beginning in a band of nations held together by their belief in the cause of freedom. Since that time the bonds between these countries have tightened, and their pledges have been translated into action which is spelling the doom of the Axis nations. Thirty-two sovereign states now make up the United Nations, and their combined resources have been built into the powerful war machine which is moving to destroy the aggressor nations in all parts of the world. Geography has made it difficult for all the thirty-two nations to maintain close contact, but groups have been formed among neighboring countries, and the whole has been co-ordinated through Great Britain, which serves as a link between the Old World and the New.

All Resources Are Combined

The English speaking peoples have formed one group, in which Britain, the Dominions and the United States have combined their economic resources and their fighting strength. Five boards administer the economic affairs of this group, and the combined boards confer with representatives of Russia, China and the other United Nations. The Lend-Lease principle, originated in the United States, has become the basis of co-operation between the United Nations. Great Britain's reciprocal aid to the United States now equals that given by the United States to Britain, and Russia has benefited greatly under this plan. Geographical difficulties have so far prevented China from receiving great quantities of supplies in this way, but when these difficulties are removed, powerful assistance will be given to that gallant member of the United Nations.

Striking Force Now Very Great

Additional groups in the United Nations include the Pacific War Council, which sits in London and Washington. Great Britain, the United States, Australia, New Zealand, India, China and the Netherlands are represented on this council, which although not an executive body, makes the wishes of the governments concerned known to the chiefs of staff and the central committees of the United Nations. The countries of the Americas have joined in a Pan-American Union, and since 1941 Canada and the United States have been combining their entire resources for war production and defense. In London, for the past three years the representatives of the governments of the occupied countries have been co-ordinating their efforts with those of the other groups of the United Nations to bring about the defeat of the common enemy. A year ago, a treaty between the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union brought about a fuller degree of co-operation and understanding both in the prosecution of the present war, and for the organization of security and economic prosperity in Europe after the war. The results of the combined efforts of all these nations is now apparent in a powerful fighting force which can with confidence take the offensive on all the war fronts.

The Modern Farm In Canada

According to the 1941 census, the percentage of farm homes in each province having electricity, radio, telephone, and automobile, is as follows:

	Electric	Auto-Lighting	Radio	Telephone

Nova Scotia	26.2	29.6	58.7	25.8
New Brunswick	18.6	27.3	48.6	16
Quebec	23.6	16.4	36.4	15.8
Ontario	37.3	69.6	66.3	50.8
Manitoba	7.3	48	66.8	24.1

Italian Prisoners Of War Make Fun Of Mussolini's Army

The Leeds Yorkshire Post reports that a visitor who recently went to a West Yorkshire farm was struck by the high spirits during the dinner-time break of a small group of Italian prisoners serving as laborers. They seemed to be having a joke at the expense of Mussolini. Two of the prisoners came smartly to attention. "Mussolini's army!" laughed one of the Italians, pointing to the rigid pair. "March!" he shouted, amid much merriment.

Brisley, they both marched several paces—backwards.

Remember China

Help That We Can Offer Is Sorely Needed By A Stricken Nation

Bombs cannot conquer the Chinese. Time has proved that the last six years of Japan's cruel war on them. Out of the ruins and rubble of destruction, the life of a new and better China is being born. But the birth is slow and painful, and China's vitality, splendid though it is, needs stimulation and support from the Western world.

In Canada, the Chinese War Relief Fund is organized from Coast to Coast to transmit aid to China. This month it is asking the Canadian public for $1,000,000 to be used for a vital program of Chinese relief and rebuilding. If Canada's sympathy and admiration for a wonderful fight are transmitted into dollars, the objective will be reached and passed with ease.

Canadians may argue about this and that, and different sections may have different ideas on many subjects, but Canadians are of one mind and heart in tribute to the unbounded courage and sheer physical doggedness of the Chinese people. The very name of China is synonymous with gallantry.

LOST THE PLANS

City Councilman Harold Harby of Los Angeles, drew plans for a device to silence crowing roosters. The instrument kept the rooster from stretching his neck. No stretch, no crow. But the plans have been lost or stolen. Perhaps it's just as well. The inventor admitted that the gadget, if improperly applied, makes a rooster give a fire siren scream.

Japanese Brutality

Terrible Stories From Concentration Camps In Hong Kong

A remarkable and terrible story reaches me from Miss Elsie Fairfax-Sholmley, who escaped from a Japanese concentration camp in Hong Kong in March, 1942. She now writes from Kailin in Free China. She says that since the Japanese captured Hong Kong 18 months ago, over one million unemployed and unskilled Chinese workers have been driven from the former British colony. The majority have been forcibly deported, the rest driven to leave through denial of food ration cards.

Without any resources whatever, thousands of these refugees have starved to death in the barren islands and coastal regions where they have been taken. The bodies of hundreds of Hong Kong ricksha pullers, longshoremen and others lie by the roadside in Kwangtung province (where famine conditions obtain even for the local population), some close to the sea, others farther inland—as far as they could drag themselves.

Yet these deportees are more fortunate than thousands of women, children and unemployed who have been simply herded on to junks and barges, towed out beyond the entrance to Hong Kong harbor and dumped overboard. Many skilled workers, who refused to work for the Japanese and were unable to escape, have also died in this manner.

Fifteen thousand Chinese are still forced to work in the Hong Kong shipyards. The Japanese pay a Chinese worker just enough to keep him alive, so that he can never save enough to travel to the nearest factory town in the interior, even if he gets away. Escape often means starvation. Yet thousands of skilled workers have escaped from Hong Kong and many have reached Free China—London New Statesman.

Always Looks Calm

Churchill Feels Debut But Never Shows His Emotions

The secret of Churchill is to be found, we believe, in his calm, unemotional approach to the great questions before the United Nations and before his country. It is revealed in the determined way in which he carries on under all circumstances. This is not to say that Churchill is not a man of deep feeling. He is. But he does not expose his feeling to public gaze. He dresses his emotions in one of the finest vocabularies used by any public figure. Thereby he inspires and encourages those it is his task to lead through the greatest crisis in world history. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Speaks Russian

Sir Archibald Wavell Is Fluent In Language Of Soviet

In view of the part which Russia will play in world affairs in the future, it is perhaps not inopportune to refer to an incident that took place in Moscow recently when Sir Archibald Wavell was one of the guests at an official banquet, called upon at the last moment to speak. Sir Archibald proposed the health of the Russian people. He spoke in fluent and flowing Russian. Stalin, apparently unaware that the then C-in-C India knew the Russian language, showed his pleasure in no uncertain fashion; afterwards he was seen in deep and intimate conversation (in Russian) with the new Viceroy.

PURCHASERS WILL BE ALLOWED CHOICE UNDER NEW RATIONING PLAN FOR JAMS AND JELLIES

OTTAWA.—The prices board announced ration allowances for jams, jellies, syrups, canned fruit and similar products. Sales of these goods are under suspension until Sept. 2 when "D" coupons from the new No. 3 ration books become valid for sweetspreads and other goods of this type.

Two "D" coupons will become good each month. For each coupon the purchaser will have the choice of:

1. Six fluid ounces of jam, jelly, marmalade, extracted honey, apple butter, maple butter or honey butter or;

2. Ten fluid ounces of molasses of maple syrup, or;

3. Ten fluid ounces of canned fruit, or;

4. Twelve fluid ounces of corn syrup, cane syrup or any blended table syrup, or;

5. One-half pound of maple sugar or comb honey in squares.

As an alternative to any of these commodities the consumer may obtain for his "D" coupon one half pound of sugar.

"The ration plan is similar to that used for meats since the consumer may 'spend' a coupon for any one of the commodities rationed . . . depending on his choice and upon what is available," the board's announcement said.

The "D" coupons will become good on the same dates as sugar coupons. The board said the plan will make for a more equitable distribution of commercially packed preserves and home-made preserves, as well as providing the alternative of the extra sugar for "D" coupons. There will be no restriction on the use of sugar obtained in this way.

"It is possible to make more sugar available because of the substantial reduction in the commercial pack of jams, jellies and canned fruits occasioned by the short fruit crop and the consequent reduction in sugar used for these purposes," the board said.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN SICILY.—Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said in an interview in the course of his tour of Sicily that the participation of Canadian formations in the Sicilian campaign proved that "The Canadian army can be used in whole or in part as the needs and prosecution of the war dictate."

"We have to be prepared to operate in whole or in part," he said. "This has to be the objective—above the aspirations or desires of any individual or group. The effective prosecution of the war must be the only criterion in these decisions."

He said the campaign showed it was "entirely possible" for one or more Canadian formations to be associated with British or American forces.

The Canadian troops were withdrawn from the later stages of the Sicilian fighting to give them a rest and to prepare for future operations, it was disclosed.

The Canadians who fought as—and still are—part of the British 8th Army, moved so fast in Sicily that they outstripped their transport and pushed on for several days without food.

They were tired and worn, and, because fresh British troops were available, the Canadians were withdrawn from the fighting.

The Canadian commander, commenting on the general war situation, said, "I think there is a gleam of light ahead—yes, something more than a gleam. We have had a long walk in the valley of the shadow."

Gen. McNaughton praised the mighty effort of the Russians and declared a sense of inevitable defeat must be coming over the German high command as Berlin saw its allies dropping off and as the Germans faced a lack of strategic reserves.

On the other hand the Allies' war industries were hitting their stride. Now there was "an abundance of

Change In Ambassadors Often Made Says Mrs. Litvinoff

NEW YORK.—The New York World-Telegram in a copyrighted interview quoted Mrs. Maxim Litvinoff, wife of the recently recalled Russian ambassador to the United States, as saying "there's nothing extraordinary or unusual about the shift."

"Ambassadors of other countries are moved around and no one thinks about it," she was quoted as saying. "Why should they read anything in it now? Another Russian ambassador is taking my husband's place. The government hasn't changed."

AFTER THE WAR

Britain Will Back Migration Of Her Soldiers To Dominions

LONDON.—The British government is going to adopt a policy of encouraging migration to the dominions after the war, especially of soldiers looking for new openings, the general council of the Trades Union Congress said.

Without giving details, the T.U.C. in its 75th report prepared for submission to the organization's annual convention, said that it had learned "facilities will be given to demobilized soldiers who may wish to try new openings in countries of the commonwealth."

BASIS EXTENDED

VANCOUVER.—War-time Merchant Shipping Ltd. in a statement confirmed that cargo ship launchings in west coast yards had been extended from a 60 to an 80-day basis, and said the action was due to the fact marine work of high priority required skilled workmen from the shipyards.

SPECIAL DAY

LONDON.—The King has proclaimed Sunday, Sept. 26, as "Battle of Britain Sunday" to commemorate the deeds of R.A.F. and civil defence workers during the German air blitz on London three years ago. The Battle of Britain was at its heaviest through September 1940, with both daylight and night attacks.

CANADIAN ARMY OVERSEAS MAY BE USED IN WHOLE OR IN PART IN PROSECUTION OF WAR

Winnipeg Fire Chief Thinks Prairie Provinces Are Vulnerable

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. — Fire Chief D. A. Boulden of Winnipeg, in an address before the 35th annual convention of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs, criticized federal defence regulations for failing to designate the prairie provinces as vulnerable sections of Canada.

"The people of the prairie provinces are disappointed and because of the absence of support and direction from Ottawa it has been difficult for us to develop an organization," he said.

"I trained 300 auxiliary firemen, but interest is lagging."

Chief Boulden said that because of the proximity of Hudson Bay and Duluth, defined as an important vulnerable spot by United States authorities, Winnipeg and the prairie provinces should be included.

Brig-Gen. Alex Ross, newly-appointed federal director of the civilian defence committee, said he had been informed by the government on the instructions of military chiefs of staff that the prairie provinces are not vulnerable areas.

HARSH BUT JUST

Idea Of Sir George Sansom On Treatment For Japan

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont.—Sir George Sansom, minister advising on Far Eastern affairs to the British embassy at Washington, said Japan should be treated "harshly but justly" after her defeat and the standard of living should be raised in that country. He spoke at a meeting of the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs in session here.

"There should be a relatively generous attitude toward Japan in the economic field as the best way to stop her future aggression," he added.

Between 1920 and 1930 there were tendencies toward the development of parliamentary institutions in Japan, he said. But the economic depression of 1929 played a great part in promoting the opposition to democratic processes and brought to power the forces in 1931 that have made war on the United Nations.

A SOLVENT PARTNER

Canada Has Not Found It Necessary To Accept Lease-Lend Assistance

CHICAGO.—Canada is the only one of the United Nations that has not found it necessary to accept lease assistance from the United States, C. C. McLaurin, supreme court justice of Alberta, said in a speech at a meeting of the American Bar Association.

"Canada is now the only debtor nation that has maintained payment of World War I debts without interruption," he said. "It is gratifying to assure you that you have a solvent partner."

Last year Canada made an outright gift of $100,000,000 in war supplies to Great Britain, and this year another $100,000,000 has been allocated for assistance to United Nations who cannot pay."

Justice McLaurin said the current annual Canadian budget approximated the American budget of 10 years ago, although Canada has only 11,500,000 inhabitants. He said that heavy taxation and direct borrowing from the public have been the Canadian means of combating inflation.

McLaurin said Canada is eager to join in the ultimate direct assault on Japan itself.

"It is hardly necessary for me to assure you that Canadians stand prepared to persevere with you . . . in preparations, whatever the cost, that will inevitably bring about the utter collapse of the unspeakable Japanese regime."

EMPEROR WORRIED

Japanese People Urged To Increase Output Of War Materials

NEW YORK.—The Tokyo radio, declaring that Emperor Hirohito is deeply concerned over Japanese war production, appealed to the Japanese people to "set the mind of the emperor at ease" by exerting new efforts to boost production, the United States office of war information reported.

The appeals, the O.W.I. said, were made in broadcasts describing a series of audiences to which the emperor summoned leaders of various industries to discuss "increased production for the elevation of fighting strength."

The O.W.I. said the Tokyo radio denied Chinese reports that Admiral Mineichi Koga, who succeeded the late Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto as commander of the combined Japanese fleet, has been killed in action.

ALASKA HIGHWAY

Bridge Over Laird River To Be Finished This Fall

EDMONTON.—Brig-Gen. J. A. O'Connor, officer commanding the United States northwest service command, said that construction of the 1,000-foot steel suspension bridge over the Laird river on the Alaska highway route will be finished this fall.

Gen. O'Connor said "The Alaska highway looks good." Graveling operations are going ahead and there will be enough gravel on the highway this year to put it in good shape, he added.

USE OF WHEAT FOR LIVESTOCK FEED AND OTHER PURPOSES HAS REDUCED SURPLUS IN CANADA

OTTAWA.—A wheat surplus that used to embarrass Canada is beginning to take on the aspect of a back-log mighty comfortable to lean against.

Canadians during recent months have been moving into "a wheat economy," said G. Cecil Morrison, prices board administrator of bakery products when he announced an extended program of simplification in the baking industry.

In other words, because of restrictions in supply of other food products, baked goods and cereals are taking a more important place in the Canadian diet—possibly more important than ever before.

The annual human consumption of wheat in Canada is about 56,000,000 bushels, no more than a drop in the bucket compared with the carry-over of 601,477,184 bushels of wheat reported at July 31, end of the 1942-43 crop year.

But officials here said the "wheat economy" involves far more than the housewife buying more flour and bakery products because other food supplies are limited.

Wheat has become a major source of feed for livestock, and has facilitated production of bacon, eggs and similar foods for the United Kingdom and other Allied nations. In the last crop year an estimated 60,000,000 bushels of wheat will be used for this purpose.

Use of western wheat as feed has not been confined to the prairies, either. Under a freight assistance policy to facilitate the supply of feed to eastern and British Columbia farmers 16,211,254 bushels were shipped. Actually the wheat feed shipments were larger than those of the more common feed grain, barley, and only 2,000,000 bushels smaller than shipments of oats.

Officials estimated that in 1942-43 the people of Canada consumed only about half as much wheat as went into animal feed and alcohol production.

"The use of wheat in making alcohol has led to a great new domestic demand," said one spokesman. "Under a wheat economy this grain is being used for vital war purposes."

During the past crop year Canadian distilleries making industrial alcohol used about 4,500,000 bushels of wheat. In the calendar year 1943, between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 bushels of wheat will be used for this purpose.

DAY COMING WHEN Bomber COMMAND MAY CARRY OUT MULTIPLE RAIDS ON TARGETS

LONDON.—Observers here see the day coming, and in the not too distant future, when bomber command may carry out anything up to three or four raids on a single German city in a single night on a large scale, rather than on succeeding nights as was the case with Hamburg.

Sanford Locker, air correspondent of the Sunday Graphic, in suggesting multiple single-night attacks on a waves once the R.A.F. has advantage of extra darkness.

And, as the nights lengthen, the bombers will be reaching out for new targets in southern and eastern Germany.

Each night, as winter draws nearer, lengthens the period of darkness which, in addition to availability of aircraft, is important to multiple raids.

An R.A.F. commentator disclosed some 800 aircraft took part in the repeat raids on Hamburg each night, leaving Britain from some 40 airfields. But the same number of the fields could accommodate 800 more aircraft given another hour and a half of darkness, because it takes about half an hour to clear an airfield of 20 planes and an hour to bring them down on their return.

Locker forces the night of the 2,000-bomber raid when 6,000 tons of high explosive and incendiaries will be dropped on a single city in a single night by clearing British bomber bases of one wave of planes and following it up with one or more waves once the R.A.F. has advantage of extra darkness.

WAR PLANTS

Will Be Main Problem Facing Canada After The War

WINNIPEG.—Demobilization of war plants after the war will be one of the main problems facing Canada, John Diefenbaker, K.C., member of parliament for Lake Centre, Sask., said here while addressing a luncheon meeting.

The war plants of the Dominion represent an investment of $890,000,000, Mr. Diefenbaker said, and the only plant so far with a post-war plan was the synthetic rubber concern at Sarnia, Ont.

He said the United States has decided that aluminum, aircraft and shipbuilding will continue to be operated with government assistance since they are necessary to the welfare of mankind as much in peace time as in war.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Persistence Has Its Own Reward

Persistent effort on the part of the council to have the provincial government undertake the responsibility of financing half the cost of placing a culvert under the McGillivray mine tracks, in order to pave the way for the start of flood control work, was rewarded on Tuesday morning when a letter was received from the Hon. W. A. Fallow stating that the province was prepared to take that responsibility. It means that the town has been saved the expenditure of approximately $2,000. Set-backs which confronted the council at the start have now been overcome and it does not anticipate any further obstacles arising to prevent the start of flood control work in the very near future.

A Citizen "Adopts" a Grave

Very few small towns have cemeteries that are a credit to them. Coleman is no exception. However, if the example followed by one of our citizens was copied, it would not be long before the cemeteries would take on a changed appearance. It appeared that one evening, after finishing taking care of his own family plot, he decided to take a look at the other graves. After slowly walking around for some time he came to a grave whose headstone bore the name of an old friend. The family had moved from town and the plot was covered by tall weeds. His thoughts flashed back to the olden days when deceased had taken an active part in local sports and community activities along with himself, and a few minutes later he was busy tearing the weeds from the plot and finished with taking a few flowers from his family plot and laying them on the friend's grave.

This citizen has now resolved to care for this grave along with his own. It is too late in the season to plant flowers, but there is always a next year, and cut flowers can be placed on the grave. If many of our citizens would "adopt" a friend's grave whose family has left town, the cemeteries would soon become a beauty spot instead of having numerous weed-infested plots that tend to counteract the beauty of other plots.

Only Fair Method

Recent announcement of the rationing of jams, jellies, marmalade and honey by coupon was greeted with satisfaction by the large majority of housewives. In the past these goods have been very scarce and when a few jars and tins were available for distribution the grocer naturally gave them to his best and steady customers. As a result many were unable to obtain these commodities. Now that they can only be secured by coupon in the future will give all a share. Rationing of these commodities should have started sooner.

Cigarette Fund Requires More Aid

The point has been reached where the monthly expense of the Overseas Welfare Fund supplying monthly parcels of cigarettes to Coleman men overseas absorbs practically all the monthly revenue. In order that the reserve fund, built up during the past years, be not touched, it will be necessary to boost the monthly revenue. Only 88 local men are overseas at the present time. Before this war is over it is a safe bet that double that figure or more will be overseas. It is because of this fact that the fund committee is loath to touch the reserve fund at the present time. They desire to bring it into use only when the number overseas reaches a number that would far out-distance the monthly revenue that could reasonably be expected to be donated by local citizens.

War Enters Its Fifth Year

Four years ago yesterday the Nazis precipitated the Second Great War by treacherously attacking and over-running Poland, thereby bringing Great Britain and France into conflict against Nazi Germany. The Nazi hordes, superbly trained and armed, ran rough-shod over the Balkans, Lowlands, France and part of Russia where they spread death and desolation. The Allied Nations were on the defensive.

Today the scene has changed. The Nazis have been hurled out of North Africa, Sicily; are being driven slowly back out of Russia. German and Italian cities are nightly feeling the oppressive weight of Allied bombs, one bombastic dictator has fallen and the German population cringes as Allied blows become stronger daily, and the threat of Allied invasion draws ever closer.

Just as surely as the Allied peoples, surveying the history of the past four years, know full well that Victory will be theirs, so must the Axis peoples as they race to their bomb shelters know in their hearts defeat must be their lot. Let's hope that this fifth year of war will see the utter collapse of Axis military might and that peace will once more reign over the world.

Henderson Secretarial School in Calgary Enlarges Again

The progress of the Henderson Secretarial School in Calgary is one of the most spectacular in the history of secretarial training in the Dominion. This school has grown from one classroom in June 1938 to two complete floors and an annex in 1943. It is now announced that the Henderson Secretarial School have taken over the entire building in which they have been located since their inception. Four complete floors are now devoted solely to classrooms, offices, reception rooms, first aid room, and recreation clubrooms. Students, parents, friends, and business men are cordially invited to inspect these enlarged modern premises at any time. Courteous receptionists will gladly explain details of the Henderson method of instruction.

EQUIPMENT—FACILITY

The Henderson Secretarial School use nothing but the very latest and finest of office equipment in their training. Their courses of study are being continually checked and revised to meet the constant changes of modern business. The faculty of twenty-five members have been specially selected for their ability to teach, as well as for their sympathetic understanding of each student's individual requirement.

SCHOOL TERM

Henderson's day classes are in session the year around with a wide selection of secretarial studies on their curriculum. Evening classes are in session four nights each week—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

A Scotman ordered one pennyworth of cat's meat to be sent round. About ten minutes later he rushed around and canceled the order. "What's happened," said the butcher. "Has the cat died?" "No," said Jack, he's caught a mouse!"

UNUSUAL RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR PAYMENT OF A LONG-DUE BILL

Frank, Alberta, August 23, 1943.

My Dear Sirs:

In reply to your request to send a cheque, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws, corporation laws, liquor laws, mother-in-laws, brother-in-laws, sister-in-laws, and outlaws.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, school tax, amusement tax, head tax, gas tax, light tax, sales tax, liquor tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax and excise tax. Even my brains are taxed. I am required to get a business license, car license, hunting and fishing license, truck license, not to mention a marriage license and dog license.

I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, the unemployed relief, and the gold digger's relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the Red Cross, the black cross, the purple cross and the double cross.

For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglary insurance, accident insurance, business insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age and fire insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, dejected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled, until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed, until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly that except for the miracle that happened, I could not enclose this cheque. The wolf that comes to many doors nowadays, just had pups in my kitchen. I shot them and here is the money.

Yours faithfully,
George Fertilizer.

INDUSTRY

is helping win the war.... industry must help build a peacetime world.

After the war is decisively won.... what kind of world is essential for a just and durable peace?

This question is being asked today everywhere in the world. No expert is needed to tell you the answer.

It must be a world as peaceful and neighbourly as your own town; a world in which decent people can bring up their children decently. It must be a busy world where factories and farms are working and where there are jobs for all.

How can such a world be brought into being? The surest way is to think and talk about it. Full and complete discussions on the porches of this country, over its fences, in churches, schools, clubs, and always at meals—that is how the terms of a JUST AND DURABLE PEACE can be formulated.

In your discussions keep in mind this fact; your terms of peace must be such that the people of other lands can agree with them. There must be provision in your plans for sustained production and for consumption of that production.

Only a world peace that squares with the conscience of men of good will can be just. Only a just peace can endure.

Prepare your home now for adequate warmth with smaller fuel consumption

TO SAVE COAL CHECK THESE POINTS

✓ HOW TO GET MORE HEAT

Pipes and furnaces must be clean, and grates in good order. If one or two rooms are hard to heat, you are wasting fuel. A minor adjustment can probably remedy this. Have a competent man check your heating system, and make necessary repairs. Insulate your furnace and pipes when necessary.

✓ HOW TO AVOID HEAT LOSSES

Storm windows and doors must fit snugly and be weatherstripped. Lack of storm windows can cause as much as 20% heat loss. Caulking should be done around windows, doors and in cracks in brick work (some hardware stores have caulking guns for rent). Broken glass should be replaced, and loose panes puttied. Small expenditures on such work will save much fuel.

✓ HOW TO SAVE STILL MORE

You can save fuel and money by having your home properly insulated. It is a proven fact that in many homes lack of adequate insulation (including storm windows) results in unnecessary consumption of fuel—up to as much as 50%.
Watch for later instructions on how to fire your furnace properly.

To "Spotlight" Members Of Armed Forces

The Friendly Store to Start
Weekly Series on Local Men
Students Encouraged to Start Albums

Mr. Joe Kapalka, proprietor of The Friendly Store, is going to "spotlight" all Coleman men serving in the armed forces in a weekly series starting in The Journal this week.

Each week a local member of the armed forces will have his picture, name and biography recorded. The Abbotsford News, a B.C. weekly, has been running a similar series with great success and it was from this weekly that
The Journal secured the idea.

Students and others interested in our local boys are encouraged to start an album beginning with the soldier "spotlighted" this week. It will prove most interesting and valuable should a debate develop regarding any particular soldier as to age, when enlisted, etc.

The Journal has a number of pictures available for the series for the next few weeks and when that supply has been exhausted an appeal will be made through The Journal columns asking for additional pictures.

If you find the series appealing
Mr. Kapalka would appreciate your letting him know.

His Greatest Pleasure

"These shoes are going to be too tight for you," warned the shoe salesman.

"I know that," replied the customer.

Then why not get a larger pair?" asked the salesman.
Well, you see it's this way," replied the other. "My wife is a fiend for women's clubs, my daughter brought her husband home to live with us, my tires are worn out, my radio is out of order, so about the only pleasure I'll be getting out of life will be when I take these tight shoes off!"

Legion's Stolen Beer Barrel Found at Blairmore

Had Been Thrown in River;
Found by Few Youths; Thief
Still at Large.

While the thief who ransacked
the Legion Club two weeks ago has not been found the missing beer barrel has been located, minus the beer. It was located last Friday by some youths in the river behind Sartoris' lumber mill on the outskirts of Blairmore.

The title of the "meanest thief" could be attached to this still unknown party. The gum stolen was bought by the Legion club, and not by some ladies as reported last week, to be sent to prisoners-of-war. They who fight and offer their lives so that men such as this thief might stay home in safety, are robbed of their con-fessionary.

If he should read this it is hoped that he will be man enough not to steal prisoners-of-war property and will enclose some money in an envelope to the Legion for the re-purchase of the gum.

As a direct result of the theft of the beer, the club was only open for an hour on Saturday evening.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Extension of Compulsory Employment Transfers.

To Employers and Employees:

THE 6th Compulsory Employment Transfer Order, issued under authority of National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, requires compliance not later than September 8th, 1943. After that date no employer may continue to employ any man covered by this Order, unless under special permit.

The first five Compulsory Transfer Orders listed occupations, and required compliance by all male employees in those occupations if (a) in an age and marital class designated under the Military Call-up, or if (b) 16, 17 or 18 years of age.
The Sixth Order repeats all occupations given in the five earlier
Orders, and requires all other men from 16 to 40 years of age (both ages inclusive) to become available for transfer to higher priority jobs, by registering at the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Details of the Sixth Order were advertised in daily newspapers at the end of August. Copies of the Order may be secured from any Employment and Selective Service Office.

If in doubt as to the coverage of this Order, or the procedure under it, ask your nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

All men, married or single, employed in designated occupations, aged 16 to 40, are now covered by the Orders. To avoid penalties, those who have not yet registered must do so by September 8th, 1943.

Two tons of rubber tires, worth their weight in wartime utility, this truck-load went as a gift from the Central District, Canadian Pacific Air Lines, Winnipeg, to the Patriotic Salvage Corps, August 10. The load is made up of Fairchild, Fokker, Super Fokker and WACO planes of the C.P.A., which have checked all the mileage possible in the interests of safety and are now ready for still more definite war jobs. The gift was handed over to salvage headquarters by Dale S. Married Men

Statistics Show They Have The Best Chance Of Survival

The chances of survival are greater for the married than for the single, much more so among men than among women. Not only does marriage select the healthier lives, but it also creates more healthful environment. The marked advantage of married men over bachelors in respect to mortality persists throughout life, and is greatest at ages from 30 to 44 years, the period during which they are raising their families. At these ages the death rates among the married men are just about half those for the single. —Metropolitan Life Bulletin.

Editors Are Having Hard Time With Inexpensive Help

Editor & Publisher tells this story: Among the casualties on the home front in this war are the tempers of small town editors who find it necessary to draft high school boys to replace printers, some gone into the armed forces, others to better paying jobs.

One of these neophytes was setting ads in the office of Somerset (Pa.) American the other day. The copy called for "1/2 inch of white space all around."

"What's white space?" the pseudo-printer asked the Plant Supt. Howard Brougher, who took the count almost.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 5

ISRAEL CALLED TO BE A HOLY PEOPLE

Golden text: Ye shall be holy; for I am holy. 1 Peter 1:16.
Lesson: Book of Leviticus.
Devotional reading: Leviticus 26: 3-12.

Explanations and Comments
Reverence of Parents, Hallowing of Sabbath, Avoidance of Idolatry Enjoined, Leviticus 19:1-4. Chapters 17-26 of Leviticus record laws which deal mainly with moral and ceremonial matters. Sixteen times in our chapter 19 are repeated the words, "For I Jehovah your God," "I am Jehovah your God," "I am Jehovah," a solemn reminder of the higher authority of the words which are addressed to the whole people.

Ye shall be holy; for I Jehovah your God am holy. Be ye imitators of God, as dear children, exhorts Paul (Eph. 5:1). Like as he who called you is holy, be ye yourselves also holy in all manner of living; because it is written, ye shall be holy; for I am holy, 1 Peter 1:15.

The primary and fundamental idea of "holiness" is "separateness". In God this implies his transcendence, his remoteness from everything earthly and wrong. In us it means separation in the sense of consecration to God. This thought of separateness is the basic truth wherever holiness is found in the Scripture. Then follows a natural and necessary consequence, that the separateness in God indicates his unique character, while in us it means purity of heart and life." (W. H. Griffith Thomas).

Ye shall fear every man his mother, and his father. Here "fear" evidently means "respect, honor", and recalls the fifth commandment. And ye shall keep my sabbaths, keep the fourth commandment. Turn ye not unto idols, nor make yourselves molten gods: the second commandment.

Avoidance of All Forms of Fraudulent Speaking and Dealing Enjoined, Leviticus 19:11, 12. Ye shall not steal nor deal falsely, nor lie, nor swear falsely. Here we have the eighth commandment expanded. "And profrane the name" of Jehovah refers to the third commandment.

Considerate Treatment of Others Enjoined, Leviticus 19:13, 14. The Rights of All Must Be Considered, Leviticus 19: 15, 16. Your court of judgment shall judge righteously, showing no partiality to the poor man just because he is poor, and no deference to the powerful man just because he is powerful; neither the poor nor the rich are to be wronged because of their poverty or their wealth.

THE TWO SIDES

An employee, guiding a guest through a Detroit newspaper plant, was explaining the city room layout.

"On this side are the reporters. They write, but can't spell. On that side are the copy-readers. They spell, but can't write."

Making A Speech

Pausing For Emphasis One Of The Elements For Effective Speaking

One of the characteristic elements of effective speaking is the use of the pause. There is nothing like a good stop. It implies the significance of what has just been said and induces curiosity for what is to follow. It permits a natural and welcome change of pitch. Young speakers are sometimes afraid that a pause will be mistaken for hesitation. Audiences instinctively know the difference, but a little clumsy or dubious hesitation is better than an unvarying, breathless hurry. "Take your time and keep your thought well ahead of your language," is sound advice. Silence is an important part of speech.—From "The Speaker's Notebook," by William G. Hoffman.

Welded ships weigh about 13 per cent. less than riveted ships, because welded steel plates do not have to overlap.

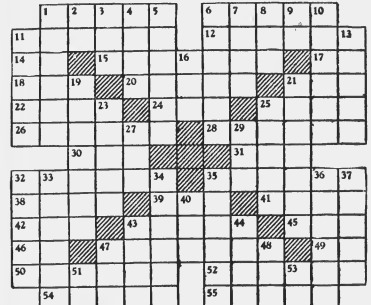

Fewer Flashlights

Torch Batteries Are No Longer For Careless Use

Because of the shortage of metal, fewer flashlight batteries can now be made in the Dominion. Flashlight batteries are doing important jobs overseas and here in Canada. Thousands of them are being used every night not only by the men in the armed forces, but by workers in industrial plants. Many of these workers need flashlights to perform their tasks in dark, cramped quarters where other light is not available.

Don't waste flashlight batteries by using the flashlight continuously. Snap it on only when it is needed, then snap it off just as quickly. Needless use of a flashlight wastes "juice" and shortens the life of batteries.

Keep flashlights well out of the way of the youngsters. They are fascinating play things but are also invaluable aids in emergency and should be kept in good working order.

Getting Out The Paper

The War Has Put Mrs. Murphy, Of The Viscount Sun, Back On The Job

How the war has put Mrs. W. T. Murphy, wife of the publisher of The Sun, Viscount, Sask., back to work is one of the human interest stories to come out of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association convention in Toronto.

Mrs. Murphy told how, for 25 years, she had worked with her husband on the paper, even to running the linotype. Four years ago when her two sons, aged 18 and 17, felt that it was time for them to take over (one had interested himself in advertising and in writing and the other had a flair for the mechanics of the paper) they went to their Dad and suggested that he tell Mother it was time for her to stay home. Mr. Murphy explained that it was quite a problem to tell a worker of 25 years' standing that she wasn't needed and suggested that the boys might like to do the job. With great pride the two boys told their mother how they had come to that point in their lives where there was no longer necessary for her to work and she could just stay home and enjoy her well-earned rest. With much pride in her sons (and with some reluctance it must be admitted) Mrs. Murphy gave up her job. A year later war was declared and both boys went immediately into the services. They have been overseas now for two years and Mrs. Murphy is busy at her spare time to get out the paper. In her place time she organizes war work sewing groups, specializing in making bedding and children's clothes out of left-overs. Attractive Miss Murphy, who accompanied her parents to the convention, said that people who visited their homes literally hung on to their socks in case Mother would confiscate them for her latest make-over venture, and that the town said she looked the dog on people just so's they would get the seat taken out of their pants and donate the remnants to her war work—Marketing.

THE HUMAN COMEDY

CHAPTER VI.

The door had opened and closed Tom Spangler was there. He was touching Mr. Grogan. He knew in a minute how things were. He telephoned for the doctor. Then he picked Grogan up in his arms and he him on the office couch.

Homer sat still on an island of terrible grief. The telegram was crushed in his hand.

Spangler, misunderstanding, spoke softly. "Don't feel like Homer. He was an old man. He had a bad heart. He knew he would go suddenly. This is the way he wanted it to be. Come on now!" The telephone box started again and Spangler leaped to it. His face changed as the unfinished message came through—complete this time. Marcus Macauley was gone. He had died in action.

The doctor and the relief operator arrived.

Spangler put his arm around Homer and took him out.

Going along the street, anywhere, Homer's feet dragged heavily. He held up the telegram. "I can't take this home."

"I can't tell Ma and Bess and Mary yet. How am I going to go into the house and look at them? They'll know, the minute they see me. I don't want to tell them but they'll know."

"Let's walk awhile," Spangler said.

They kept on, towards the courthouse, through the park. "He said he might go in his letter," Homer said dully. "He said he was ready."

"Then he broke out ferociously. 'I can't figure it all out. All I want to know is, what about my brother? Nothing like this has ever happened to me before. When my father died it was different. He had lived a good life the way he wanted to. He had a home. We were sad but we weren't sorry. I'm sure. What's a fellow supposed to do?'"

Spangler tried to find the words that would say the right thing. He fought with himself to find those words. "I'm not going to try to comfort you Homer. I know I couldn't. Your brother didn't want to go. He wanted to stay. He wanted to stay in the love you have for him."

Homer's body shook with a frustrated fury. How could the world do this to him? What was good about it? "But I want to see Marcus. I can't help it. I want to see him walking around. I want to see him and him. What is different now. People are different. Everything in Ithaca is changed because my brother won't be here."

Spangler again searched for those right words. "Try to remember Homer that the best of him will never die. You will see him many times in things that will come to you every day. In your home, in the streets, places where he has been, in the vineyards and orchards where he worked, in the river he knew and the clouds that float over it. The greater part of a good man stays. It stays forever." He pointed to the trees. "Any good at pitching horse-shoes?"

Out of his bleak heart Homer replied. "No sir, not very."

"Neither am I. Would you care to pitch a game with me before it's too dark?"

"Yes sir." The game began. Homer knew that his hand was picking up the horse-shoes, flinging them to their mark. His whole body hurt as if somebody had beaten him up. But he kept on for a while. Then he stepped back. "Mr. Spangler I don't feel like pitching any more. They're waiting for me at home now. I know they are. I said I'd be home for supper."

Spangler's eyes pleaded with him. "Wait Homer. Don't go home yet. Wait just a while."

Homer gazed past him. "You needn't be afraid. I remember—I told Mr. Grogan that if my brother was killed I'd spit at the world. I'd be the worst that ever lived." A flush of shame stained his face.

"Huh. A fellow talks that way but I guess you never know what you're talking about. It really happens. His shoulders sagged a little. "Maybe I'll get it straight somehow after a while." He sank on to one of the benches.

Spangler nodded. "I think you'd like to be alone just now."

Homer turned in the soft light of the street lamp. It was very quiet. The world and its doings seemed far off. Then, in that suspended moment, he felt lighter as if a weight were rolling off his back.

Up on high Matthew saw him. "It will take a little time my son, a little time . . . for the pain of the Marcus that died, to die in you too, the part that is only flesh and the part that comes and goes. That dying is hurting you now but wait a little while. When it leaves you will find new strength."

Homer was sitting up straighter now. Courage and faith were flowing back into his veins.

This strength will bring you closer to the best that is in all men. You remember what he said. 'You must go on . . . you are what we are fighting the war for.' Yes Homer, you are what we have left behind, to live the hopes that we have only dreamed, the matchless dreams of what man can be."

Now Matthew saw someone else, a lone soldier who had been wandering around the town. The soldier was talking to himself.

"Yes this is Ithaca with the Ithaca sky over it. There's the Public Library—the Presbyterian church. There's Ithaca High—and that's the Athletic Field. There's the Courthouse Park. . . here's home. Ma and Bess. Ulysses. I'm home at last."

All of this was his inheritance from Marcus. His friend had left him his birthright, his place in the world. He would be worthy of it. He turned as a boy came walking up the path.

It was Homer. He looked at the soldier curiously. Then he hesitated. For a moment, I thought I knew you. Is Ithaca your home?"

"Yes. I mean I hope it is."

"Then you don't have to go back?"

The soldier looked at his injured leg. "They've sent me home for good. I just got off the train."

"Well, your family must be waiting for you." The soldier didn't answer. To his own surprise Homer said, "Won't you come in? I live here." Something had made him say it, some voice.

Now the soldier's face lighted up. "Then . . . you're Homer. I've been looking for you."

"How did you know my name? Who are you?"

The soldier's smile was sweet and wide. "I don't know who I am because I'm an orphan. But I know who you are. And your mother and Bess and your brother Ulysses. You see, Marcus was my friend."

He reached into his pocket. "He sent you this Homer. His class ring. He always said—if anything happened to him he wanted you to have it."

Homer slipped the ring on his finger. "Then—you are Toby. You must be."

"Yes."

Marcus' friend, Homer and Toby smiled at each other with the tender pain of remembrance. Then Homer put out his hand and Toby took it. Comradeship and brotherhood flowed from one to the other like the stream of life.

"Homer brought out the telegram. 'This came awhile ago.'"

"What are you going to do?" Toby asked.

Slowly, Homer tore the message into shreds. His chin was up, his eyes bright with tears. "We'll go in together." He called. "Ma. Bess. Ulysses. Open the door. The soldier's come home."

The family came to the door but the music seemed to continue on and to swell. The kindly lamp light illumined them all. It was as if they knew about Marcus already and were welcoming the stranger in his place. They all went in.

Outside, in a radiant Heavenly light, were the spirits of Matthew the father and Marcus the son. Together they passed through the door to join the others. Now the family was complete again.

Te music in the Macauley home rose exultantly. To any who heard it was a song of human love.

Absence Of Christmas Tree May Make Day More Real

A statement issued recently from a government department at Ottawa says that owing to shortage of labor and transport, no Christmas trees will be cut this year.

That will cause a lot of dismay throughout the land.

Appropos this matter, note what verses three and four, chapter 10, of Jeremiah, say:

"For the customs of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree, out of the forest, the work of the hands of the workman, with the axe.

"They deck it with silver and with gold; they fasten it with nails and hammers that it move not."

Jeremiah was the greatest of the Hebrew prophets, and as he is traditionally believed to have been the author of Lamentations he is spoken of as a gloomy man. Christmas trees were not known in Bible times, so Jeremiah was neither prophesying about them nor lamenting over them.

He was speaking of trees being cut down and fashioned into idols.

But there is a link in thought between these verses and the decree from Ottawa.

At Christmastime many people think far more about their Christmas tree than they do about Christ. Old and young, they give themselves up more excitedly to the choice, erection and decoration of the tree, and subsequently to the contemplation of the gifts surrounding it, than to any other feature of the Christmas season. Literally it becomes an object of worship. It is made the fulcrum of the Christmas celebration.

If there are no Christmas trees next December, their absence may remind many people of something they habitually neglect giving a thought to.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

SALEADS

We should have at least one fresh, raw, vegetable each day. Salads are the answer.

In a salad you can serve an endless variety of the fruits and vegetables which are so rich in minerals and vitamins. Because you can use almost any kind of food or combination of foods, in salads, they may solve the problem of using left-overs.

If you include generous proportions of meat, fish, poultry, cheese or egg in your salad, you may serve it as a main dish. Salads consisting mainly of fruits and vegetables may be served as an accompaniment to a meal or in the case of fruit salads as a dessert.

If you follow the simple rules advocated by the Women's Institute Branch, you will have an appetizing salad.

(1) Use clean, crisp, tender greens.

(2) Keep all salad materials dry and well chilled.

(3) Use the ingredients in attractive shapes and suitable sizes.

(4) Use foods to make good flavour and colour combinations.

(5) Add sufficient dressing to season well but not enough to make the salad watery.

(6) Add the dressing just before serving.

(7) Use strong flavour, such as onion, sparingly.

(8) Make an attractive arrangement, avoid a flat effect.

(9) Select a suitable garnish, preferably one that may be eaten.

When combining the ingredients use a spoon or fork and toss them together lightly with the dressing. Almost any proportion of ingredients may be used.

To serve with your salad you may choose one of several things. Hot cheese biscuits, hard rolls, crisp crackers, toast fingers, melba toast or cheese straws. You could spread crackers with butter and brown in the oven or add grated cheese. Toast fingers are made by cutting stale bread in slices 1/2" thick, spread the slices with butter and then cut into 1/2" wide strips. Bake in hot oven until browned.

A Canadian from the shores of the mighty St. Lawrence had been visiting relatives in Chiswick. Among other wonders of the neighborhood, they showed him the Thames, hopping to impress him.

"I know," he answered, brightly. "Let's go round by the brook!"
